

Curves Complete™ Free Foods & Beverages

You may eat any of the following free foods to help to fill you up when you're hungry. Just remember, these are not included on your shopping list unless they are required as part of a recipe. If you plan to eat any of these free foods, make sure you add them to your shopping list.

Vegetables

Alfalfa Sprouts	Cauliflower	Rocket Salad
Arugula	Celery	Romaine Lettuce
Asparagus	Coriander	Snow Peas
Bamboo Shoots	Cucumbers	Spring Onion
Bean Sprouts	Eggplant	Spinach
Bibb Lettuce	Green Beans	Sugar Snap Peas
Bok Choy	Kale	Summer Squash
Broccoli	Lettuce	Tomato
Brussels Sprouts	Mushrooms	Watercress
Cabbage	Onions	Zucchini
Capsicum	Parsley
Carrots	Radishes

Condiments

Horseradish	Lime Juice	Tomato Salsa
Lemon Juice	Mustard	Vinegar

Seasonings

Cooking Spray	Garlic	Spices
Flavored Extracts	Herbs	Worcestershire Sauce

Beverages

Calorie free beverages are free. It's best if your "water" requirements for the day come from water or unsweetened tea, because these are most hydrating to the body. While coffee is a free beverage, it shouldn't be counted as "water" because it is not as hydrating as water. A splash of skim or 1% milk in your coffee can be considered free, but watch out for sugar and creamers which are not free.

- Water
- Unsweetened tea
- Coffee (with a splash of skim or 1% milk)
- Carbonated Water
- Diet Soda (in moderation)

Beverages that are not free:

Juice: It's typically best to avoid juice while dieting because liquid calories don't fill you up as well as solid calories. Whole fruit is a better choice. However, if you want juice you may include it in your plan by counting 4 oz as a fruit exchange.

Alcohol: Alcohol can be included in moderation. Moderation is 1 drink a day for a female. A glass of wine or a light beer will be the best choices if you choose to drink. Remember that alcohol contains a lot of calories and you must use some of your exchanges to include alcohol in your diet. One 5 oz glass of wine or a light beer can be included for 1.5 starch exchanges - simply cut back a bit on a starch portion at meal.